Regional Toolbox for Environmental Change

Friday June 18, 2010, 9am – 5pm, registration from 8:30am
Cost: $110 (GST incl) Resources & meals included
Registrations Close: Friday 11 June

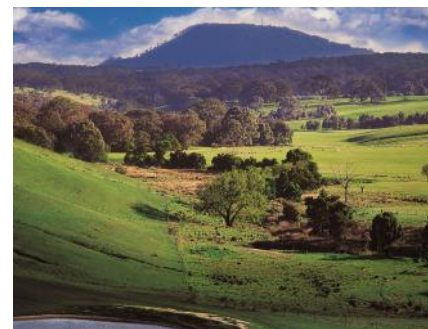

Greening Australia and Sovereign Hill are partnering to deliver the second Regional Toolbox for Environmental Change forum. The Regional Toolbox forum builds on a decade of success for the Melbourne Toolbox and responds to the real need to support sustainability education in regional schools.

The one day forum will be held at Narmbool Environmental Discovery camp at Elaine, 30 minutes south of Ballarat and will provide a range of keynote speakers, service provider displays, hands-on workshops and local case studies to stimulate and equip schools to educate for sustainability. Keynote speakers include Peter Gell and Steve Carey from the University of Ballarat. By popular demand following his recent keynote at the Melbourne Toolbox, Rod Quantock will bring together the science, economics, the politics and the apathy surrounding climate change to simultaneously stimulate thought and laughter.

Displays and Workshops will be provided by Greening Australia, Narmbool and Sovereign Hill, Sustainability Victoria, the Bug Blitz Trust™, Australian Catholic Education Office, CERES Community Environment Park, the Department of Primary Industry, Global Education, the Gould League and more. Local teacher and winner of the 2009 Green Teacher Award, Susan Doull will provide a case study of Creswick North Primary School's journey with the Australian Sustainable Schools Initiative (AuSSI) and Ballarat Grammar will provide a case study on their school's Eco-shop.
